How will my child be assessed at Rochford?

Teachers use their expert knowledge alongside your child's books and test results to assess the progress your child is making throughout the year. Your child has started their current year group on the band assessment they were given at the end of last year (please see your child's report if you are unsure what this is). Throughout this year teachers will continue to use a range of evidence to support this assessment process. Progress will be reported to you at parent consultation opportunities as well as part of their end of year reports.

Within each band there are six steps. The children will move through each of these steps before moving on to the next band. Our aim is for all children to make six steps of progress and be working at Within + (or better) by the end of their current year.
